INVERNESS GRAHAM COMPLETES ADD-ON ACQUISITION

Portfolio Company Mesker Holdings, LLC Acquires HMX

Philadelphia, PA, September 15, 2014 – Inverness Graham Investments, a private investment firm based in suburban Philadelphia, announced today that its portfolio company Mesker Holdings, LLC (“Mesker”) has acquired Hollow Metal Xpress (“HMX”). Based in Phoenix, Arizona, HMX is a quick-ship hollow metal door and frame manufacturing company providing custom hollow metal doors and frames for dealers with lead times measured in days rather than weeks and months.

“This is the second add-on acquisition for Mesker within the first nine months of our ownership,” stated Michael Morrissey, Managing Principal of Inverness Graham. “The HMX acquisition is a key first step accelerating our growth strategy at Mesker - to move our quick ship, “first frames” manufacturing capabilities closer to our customers. The acquisition of HMX scales the overall Mesker platform, dramatically improves Mesker’s West Coast capabilities and captures strong quick ship manufacturing capabilities and know-how that accelerates our growth plans.”

Dave Johnson, CEO of Mesker Holdings, states, “The addition of the HMX team to our Mesker and Design Hardware family enables our company to continue on the path of sustainable growth with our distributor partners. This is just the beginning of our plan to continue to acquire strategic companies and locations across the United States and beyond, in order to support our customers in this great industry.”

The terms of the transaction were not disclosed.
